

RICE SELECTED TO ACT AS JUDGE

Unusual Court Situation Arises
When Attorney Becomes Ill
Just Before Adjournment

On account of the death of Clay Shackelford, brother of Judge W. R. Shackelford, a special judge was chosen to preside over the Madison circuit court and hear cases set for Tuesday. As provided by law, the attorneys at the bar made the selection.

Judge H. C. Rice was nominated by Attorney C. C. Wallace, and the nomination seconded by Attorney G. M. Smith. His selection was unanimous. He was sworn in by Circuit Clerk Waggers. Calling of the docket then began Tuesday morning.

Sam Isaacs was fast week given a judgment for $250 against the city of Richmond for damage alleged to have been caused by his property in the East End by an overflowing sewer.

An unusual situation arose in circuit court last week when Attorney A. R. Burnham was taken ill with a deep cold and compelled to remain at home. He was defending the $25,000 damage suit of John E. Mathews, against the L. & N. railroad. The evidence had been heard and the case was ready for argument, when Mr. Burnham became so ill that he was compelled to go to his home. By agreement with Attorneys Franklin, Talbot and Chapman of Lexington and Paris, representing Mathews, the case went over to November 2nd, at an extended term of court. The same jury which heard the evidence will return, hear the arguments and retire to make a verdict. Col. Bob Franklin, famous in military trials for his oratory, will make the main argument to the jury for Mathews. It is understood.

Mr. Burnham's many friends were glad to see him out at court Tuesday morning, feeling much better.

Washington, Oct. 25—The policy of the Department of Justice in event of a railroad strike, was formulated today in a conference between Attorney General Daugherty and District Attorneys from five important railroad centers. The attorneys as they left the conference were warned not to talk.

SCHOOL CONTRACT TO CAMPBELLVILLE MAN

Wins Award From Board of Education On Low Bid of $99,450 For Big Job

J. C. Miller, of Campbellville, Taylor county, will build the new Madison High and Graded School building. Contract was awarded to him by the City Board of Education and approved by the Citizens' Committee at a meeting Monday. The contractor is expected to begin work as quickly as he can move his equipment and crew here.

The Board of Education met in joint session with the Citizens' Committee at 3 o'clock Monday in the office of John Noland. The object of the meeting was to consider further the bids on the proposed new city school building. Bids were opened on October 12th. It was decided, on the advice of Architect Wicher, to resubmit the proposition to the four lowest bidders with eleven alternates to be submitted there-with.

At the meeting Monday the bids of the four lowest bidders on the eleven alternates were opened and considered. E. G. Holiday Company, of Nashville, Tennessee, had withdrawn their certified check. This reduced the bidders to three—M. S. Pierce & Son, of Danville, Ky.; C. A. Rawlings, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and J. C. Miller, of Campbellville, Ky.

After deductions were made for the alternates the bids of the three firms, considered with their previous bids of October 12th, were as follows:

M. S. Pierce & Son, $101,562.25
J. C. Miller, $99,450.00
C. A. Rawlings, $103,067.25

After due consideration a motion was made and carried that the contract be let to J. C. Miller, of Campbellville. Mr. Miller comes highly recommended. He built the school building at Lebanon, which is considered one of the best in the state. He expects to begin work within ten days. His contract includes the salvaging of the Caldwell building and also of the part of the old Madison High building which will have to be razed.

FORMER MADISONIAN
DIES IN WINCHESTER

Mr. B. F. Todd, a former Madison county citizen, died suddenly in Winchester, Saturday morning, just as he went to his place of business for the day. It was supposed by physicians that acute indigestion was the cause of his death, as he was seemingly in his usual health at the breakfast table and died in a few minutes after being taken to his home. Mr. Todd was one of the most prominent merchants in the city, was 62 years of age, and is survived by a daughter and son. He formerly lived at Moberly, this county, and has numerous relatives and friends here. T. M. Wells, Major Wells and Cyrus T. Wells were nephews, and attended the funeral in Winchester Monday.

CONGLETON CREDITORS
VOTE ON RECEIVER

Security Trust Co., of Lexington, Named To Act For Firm But None Yet For Individuals

The Security Trust Company of Lexington, was named as receiver for the firm of Lee Congleton & Sons at the first meeting of the creditors of the company which recently filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in federal court. The hearing was held before Wm. Worthington, referee in bankruptcy, in the Fayette county court room. A number of Madison county creditors attended.

A lengthy preliminary discussion relating to all legal matters concerned with the assignment was first opened. Late Monday afternoon a vote on the receiver-ship disclosed that the Security Trust Company had received 15 votes representing $38,10.25 while the other nominee, Joe Smith, had received two votes, representing $459.27.

The receiver for the individual members of the firm was not named at the meeting. The Security Trust Company received five votes representing $37,497.93, while Mr. Smith received 15 votes, representing considerable less than this amount. The law requires the receiver to receive the greater number of votes in addition to the largest amount of money involved.

As neither the Security Trust Company nor Mr. Smith by the vote had met the requirements of the law, the meeting was adjourned by Mr. Worthington. A meeting will be held next Monday to take up this phase of the matter.

The failure of the Congleton firm several weeks ago, is one of the largest bankruptcy cases in Fayette county for many years. High priced farm lands are said to have been the cause of the assignment. Possibly one-half million dollars are involved.

MONDELL WANTS
BLANTON EXPELLED

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Oct. 25—Representative Mondell, republican leader, introduced in the House today a resolution for expulsion of Representative Thomas M. Blanton, democrat, of Texas. An extension of Blanton's remarks in the Congressional Record about the government printing office row is called obscene and unfit for transmission through the mails. Blanton is absent and consideration of the resolution was deferred.

Five File Claims to
Reward of $1,000

Harrodsburg, Oct. 25—With the conviction in circuit court of Cal Patrick and Greenberry Cornish, charged with robbing the Farmers Bank at Salvisa in June, five claims have been filed for the reward of $1,000 for each bank robber caught and convicted, made by the Kentucky Bankers' Association. The third robber, Will Welsh, died in jail a few days after his capture. The men claiming the reward are two government detectives of Cincinnati, Robertson and Stivers; and Esco Beasley, Floyd and J. L. Gritton, all of the Salvisa section, and all of whom had part in the capture of the robbers.

$5,000 Reward Dead or Alive
For Each Auto Mail Bandit

Washington, Oct. 25—Postmaster General Hays today offered a reward of $5,000 "dead or alive" for each of the three automobile bandits who held up a mail truck in New York last night. It is indicated that $50,000 in loot was secured.

Fiddlers' Contest At Union City

Col. John Berry asks the Daily Register to announce that he will hold an Old Fiddlers' Contest at the high school building at Union City next Saturday night. Seven cash prizes will be given. He expects to have some of the best fiddlers in this section to compete. Three good judges will be announced Thursday, he says. It

Somerset High won from Lexington High by 41 to 6.

Choked On Small Steak

J. G. Firth became choked last Saturday evening while eating steak and suffered great agonies of pain, says the Broadhead correspondent of the Mt. Vernon Signal. Local physicians were called but were unable to give relief. He, with Dr. W. F. Carter, started to Stanford to seek assistance but was suffering so intensely that they stopped at Crab Orchard where one of the physicians removed the steak, which contained small bone. Another instance where a county hospital with surgical equipment and quick relief was needed very badly.

May Postpone One Day
Opening of Arms Conference

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Oct. 25—High officials intimated today the probable postponement of the opening of the international conference on armament and far Eastern affairs until November 12th. The apparent reason is the original opening date conflicted with Armistice Day ceremonies, and burial of America's unknown soldier.

Prohibition Chief Says Enforcement Conditions Are Good In Ky. Under Collins

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Oct. 25—Federal prohibition commissioner R. A. Haynes in a statement today said he is highly pleased with the progress in enforcement work in Kentucky by Director Sam Collins.

"Kentucky, with large quantities of red liquor in bond, constituting a vast source of supply, has problems distinctively her own and involving considerable difficulty but by no means beyond solution," he said. He added "my appeal to Kentucky today is for every ounce of vigorous, virile, moral aid of her splendid manhood and womanhood in support of the constitution of the United States. It is on longer a question of prohibition, but are you for or against the constituted law?" He concluded: "The 18th amendment will be enforced without regard to geography and without discrimination, fear or favor."

MEDICINAL BEER
READY FOR SUFFERERS

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Oct. 25—Beer as medicine enjoys full legal status today through the unexpected action of the Treasury department in promulgation of regulations permitting its use for that purpose. Dry advocates, in an out of Congress, did not conceal their disapproval of the department's action. No arbitrary limit is placed on the number of prescriptions, each for the equivalent of a case, one person may obtain within a given period.

Washington, Oct. 25—As unexpected as a rainstorm in a desert, regulations permitting the manufacture and use of beer for medicinal purposes were issued today by the Treasury Department.

Issuance of the beer regulations will cause redoubled efforts to effect the passage of the anti-beer measure, Senate leaders declared while Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, described the Treasury's action as less "defensible than at any other time."

Secretary Andrew Mellon, in announcing issuance of the beer rules, declared that "the legal rights of the parties concerned being plain, the department is unable to delay longer the issuance of these regulations."

The rules cover comprehensively the use of beer, wines and spirituous liquors for medicines. The amount of beer a physician may prescribe at one time for the use of the same person is limited to two and one-half gallons, the equivalent of a case, but no arbitrary limit is placed upon the number of such prescriptions a physician may write or the same person may obtain within a given period.

Two quarts of wine was the limit put upon the single prescription for that beverage, but otherwise the regulations are the same as for beer. Spirituous liquors are limited to one pint with in any ten day period and alcohol for external use was limited to a pint to the same person at one time.

Prescriptions for these medicines may be filled only by retail druggists. Prescriptions are not refillable and the regulations declare that a pharmacist "should refuse to fill any prescription for liquor if he has any reason to believe that physicians are prescribing for other than medical use or that a patient is securing through one or more physicians quantities of intoxicating liquor in excess of the amount necessary for medicinal purposes."

The regulations also limit prescriptions to the time a person is suffering. Besides beer, the regulations permit the use for medicinal purposes of other intoxicating malt liquors, such as ale, porter, malt extracts and similar fermented malt liquors containing one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol by volume.

LOCAL FANS AFRAID OF BEING MAROONED

In Boston By Strike and No One From Here May See Centre Play Harvard Saturday

So far as known there is no foot ball fan from Richmond or Madison who is game enough to brave the prospect of being marooned in Boston or some other seaport the last of this week by the proposed railroad strike, to travel up there to see Centre College's great foot ball team meet Harvard in their second battle. Madison had several representatives last year. Plans are being made for local fans to receive the returns play by play here Saturday. The cost is said to be about $40 or $50 and the fans are making up a fund to be used for this purpose.

News comes from Danville that if the railroad strike begins Saturday, Harvard authorities announce they will send the Centre College foot ball eleven back home by auto. The Centre special train is scheduled to leave Boston Sunday.

Can Centre Turn The Trick?

Danville, Ky., Oct. 25—Can Centre turn the trick? This question is uppermost in the minds of Gold and White enthusiasts throughout the state. Harvard has tackled one dangerous team after another this fall and has yet to meet defeat. Penn State gave her a mighty scare Saturday and the Crimson team was lucky to escape with a 21 to 21 tie.

The Harvard line apparently is not so strong this year as last, for Georgia and Penn State crossed her goal line. Centre and Princeton were the only elevens that accomplished this feat last fall.

Centre's offensive game, which has been a bit off color this season, looked 100 per cent better Saturday. In scoring 98 points on Transylvania, Moran gave 40 men a workout. The first eleven did not play a full half, but while in action demonstrated stellar team work, excellent knowledge of the fundamental and real defensive ability.

What will be Centre's lineup when she starts against Harvard is a puzzle. In every game played thus far the Centre coaches have switched the men around. Coach Moran frequently will announce one line-up on the eve of the contest and ten minutes before game time will decide on a change.

Bo McMillan assured fans Saturday that he had returned to form. Although the all-American quarterback was in the game only one-half time, he gained 681 yards. He averaged sixty yards every time he carried the ball. Bo, backing up the line, frequently called to his men to be on their guard for a reverse play or trick formation, and in an uncanny manner solved the formations of the Lexington aggregation before they could get under way.

Centre did not attempt to uncover any of Moran's pet plays. On one occasion when the Colonels uncorked a reverse play, a Harvard scout who was sitting just behind the Centre bench, called out: "Look out, Moran, you might unearth something." Three Crimson spies who were on hand will have little to report to the Boston boys.

The showing of Centre's third team was one of the features of the matinee. This third combination has been battered daily for two weeks by the first and second teams and have had little opportunity to advance the ball. Like wild men they tore into the Crimson varsity and rolled up three markers in less than fifteen minutes of play.

The sight of a Kentucky college team in three full teams into a game in one quarter was a real novelty. It was probably the first time in history that such a stunt had been

THIS IS THE DAY FOR SPEED

And If You Want To Speed Away In A Car On Dec. 1st, Use Speed In Getting To Your Friends and Getting Their Subscriptions

This is the day of speed. Our wireless telegraph is the last word. Our mile-a-minute express trains—our two-mile-a-minute automobile—our rapid news service—Speed! Speed! Speed! Speed In This Race

There is a time in every campaign—be it for war, politics or for the Daily Register Automobiles—in which you must come to a definite decision. Then having made up your mind to some definite purpose—to enter this subscription contest, for instance, you should line up your friends, form a campaign committee, and lay out a plan of campaign. Your plans formed, then strike out for votes, for subscriptions which mean votes to you.

You should do your best to get some subscriptions every day to speed up your efforts to get results, and to keep up this speed until the finish.

An Example of Speed American rush and progress is synonymous with speed. A great news event happens in a remote corner of the world. It is laid before you at your evening meal in the columns of the Daily Register. This is speed and in this example of speed we see a moral—it is "get busy; stay busy." Speed up your work and get to your friends before somebody else gets to them and gets their subscriptions. Get them today.

All Other Prizes

Now don't forget the Talking Machines, cash prizes and liberal commissions that will be given you in addition to the autos above mentioned. You can easily be the winner in some of these prizes. They are all going to some of the candidates with the vim and push who use speed. The candidate who turns in the most subscriptions to the end of this contest is going to be the winner. It is not too late to enter. In fact, it is just the opportune moment, so start now.

YOU can get an extra pair of trousers with each suit you buy this week from B. L. Chambers, the Superior Woollen Mills representative at the Gibson House. Take advantage of this offer today.

It pulled and the 3,000 spectators present generously applauded the spectacle.

Thompson of Transylvania, played an excellent offensive game, but on the defense looked weak. On one occasion Bo, when carrying the leather, ran straight at him, side-stepped a few feet and, as Thompson fell to the right of him, called "Hello, Ryan, let's go."

Bo and Thompson are the best of friends and each congratulated the other after the game on the other's playing. Centre has four quarterbacks, McMillan, Covington, Murphy and Green, who are every bit as good, if not better, players than Thompson.

Five short forward passes were attempted by Centre and two were completed for 23 yards. Thomasson, the freshman fullback, intercepted one of Thompson's heaves in the first quarter and sprinted 55 yards for a score.

Harvard "Shot To Pieces"

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 25—The Harvard football team was shot to pieces Monday. When hCoac Fisher surveyed his squad to see who was available for the game with Centre College next Saturday he found Capt. Kane, Owen, Fitts and Geherke just out of the infirmary, and several others still convalescent. Owen, it was said, would not be able to play for a fortnight.

The Crimson, with a wealth of backfield material in the early season, was so reduced in the Penn State contest last Saturday that linemen were sent to the backfield, and a cheer leader was sent to the club house to change from white flannels to moleskins. It was such a stop-gap combination that went into the last period and tied the score when the game appeared lost.
